Procedures students should follow if a sex offense occurs, including procedures concerning who should be contacted, the importance of preserving evidence for the proof of a criminal offense, and to whom the alleged offense should be reported;	In cases of sexual assault (including harassment or rape), dating violence, domestic violence or stalking victims should alert the local law enforcement agency. Employees and students also could call (847) 243-4928 during hours of operation. Seek immediate medical treatment if needed. It is important to receive medical attention, even if you feel you were not physically hurt. In the event of a sexual assault, the survivor should not shower, wash, or throw away the clothes worn at the time of the assault, if possible. This can help in collecting evidence that may be useful if the survivor chooses to report the assault to law enforcement in the future. However, the collection of evidence and undergoing a medical exam do not obligate the survivor to participate in any investigation or prosecution of the sexual assault. That is the survivor's choice. The suggested medical exam includes a general physical exam and an exam to check for internal injuries. The survivor may choose to receive emergency contraception and/or prophylaxis for sexually transmitted infections. If a survivor believes they were drugged, toxicology screening is available, although many drugs leave the body quickly and this screening may not always be able to detect them. The survivor has the right to accept or reject any part of the medical exam. After 120 hours (5 days), a physical exam for evidence collection is no longer necessary since the evidence is unlikely to exist. However, medical care and counseling continue to be important, and a physical exam may provide evidence of a sexual assault, dating violence or domestic violence. Confidential resources, such as off-campus counseling and psychological services, health services providers, member(s) of the clergy, and the local Sexual Assault are bound by state statutes and professional ethics from disclosing information about reports without written releases. In the event of fire alarm activation, all occupants of the facility are instructed to evacuate the premises via the nearest exit.

LOCKDOWN

- 1) Clear out of open, common areas like hallways and the cafeteria and seek shelter in a classroom or office;
- 2) Barricade the doorway by stacking furniture by stacking furniture inside the room in front of the door, and
- 3) Sit quietly in the room along the corridor out of sight and await further instruction from the school officials or your instructor.

Lockdown would generally be required if an individual or group has presented a possible threat to the school and our students/staff.

The Emergency Operations Team will notify the Chicago Professional Center faculty so that the appropriate information, in the form of an e-mail, is forwarded to students.

Chicago Professional Center will contact the Wheeling Police Department prior to the above posting to confirm that an emergency / dangerous situation exists.
